Astounding Propaganda, in All Its Wildness, Explained by Roosevelt
Who Admits Plan Is Revolutionary.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—Theodore Roosevelt plunked into the thick of the fight for the nomination for the presidency today. He said unequivocally that he was in the fight to the end and was glad of it.

"I am perfectly happy now," he said, "because I am making a fight straight out for principle. The issue is in no way a personal one."

"Do you intend to support the republican nominee, whoever he may be," he was asked.

"Of course I shall," he replied.

In response to inquiries as to what principle he was fighting for, he referred his questioners to his speeches at Columbus last week and in the Massachusetts house today. His position in regard to a "third term" was explained to a number of callers today.

"My position is perfectly simple," he said. "I stated it as clearly as I could in 1904 and reiterated it in 1907."

"I said I could not accept a nomination for a third term under any circumstances, meaning, of course, a third consecutive term. I could not have said less at that time, nor could I have said more. Of course I could not know then whether or not there would be a demand for me to accept a nomination at some future time, as, believing as I do, that the selection of candidates for the presidency rests entirely with the people. I could not say that at no time in my life would I accept another nomination. It would be clear to any reasonable man that the precedent which forbids a third term has reference only to a third consecutive term. It grew out of the fact that the president of the United States, under the constitution system of electing delegates, can, if he knows how to use the machinery at his disposal, renominate himself, even though a majority of his party are against him. But after he has been out of office for a term, he has lost control of that machinery. He is in the position absolutely of any private citizen. The machinery then is in the hands of the man occupying the office of president."

He promised to send a letter to be read at a meeting here Saturday.

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—Theodore Roosevelt, speaking in the assembly chamber at the Massachusetts capital today, explained his new project for a limited recall of judicial decisions.

"Our system of government is a confessed failure," he said, "unless the people are to be trusted with the government themselves."

After appearing in the house Roosevelt went to the senate chamber and spoke briefly. In both instances he was received cordially although there was no prolonged applause during his speeches.

Regarding his plan which is to prevent the necessity for the recall of judges, he said: "My proposal applies only to legislative acts which the courts declare unconstitutional. I refer specifically to laws passed in the collective interest of the whole community, passed by a legislative body in the exercise of the power to promote the general welfare, in the exercise of the police power which is inherent in the legislature. If such a law, dealing with the collective interests of the community as a whole, passed by a legislature and signed by a governor, is declared unconstitutional by a court, I ask that the people be given the right, if they choose, to exercise that right themselves to pass final judgment upon the proposition."

"It has been stated this will substitute the popular whim, the whim of a moment for the decision of the judiciary. Consider my proposition for a moment."

Here he showed the progress of legislation through the courts, with over a year elapsing before final judgment is rendered.

"My proposal is that then, if the court has decided that the legislative, executive, have exceeded the power granted by the people to them under the constitution, that the people themselves have the right to say whether their representatives in the legislature and executive office were right, or whether their representatives in the courts were right. The provisions could be made that no vote be had save at a regular election, and not less than six months after appeal to the people had been made."

"All I advocate is giving the people"

O'NEILL WANTS ON COMMITTEE

So Does Reese Ling, While Several Other Gentlemen Would go to Convention.

Eugene Brady O'Neill of Phoenix has shied his gauntlet once again within the political arena and is an avowed candidate for the important post of national committeeman from the state of Arizona.

Maricopa county is behind her favorite son and proposes to fight it out along those lines if it takes all summer.

Reese Ling, formerly of Prescott, but now a convert to the subtle climate and business workings of Maricopa, is also an "avowed" candidate. Eugene S. Ives has been a receptive candidate, but will not press his suit against his former running mate for the United States senatorial nomination.

With Maricopa solid and considerable outside support, Brady looks good to the seers. The issue will be determined at the democratic primaries scheduled for May 28.

The national committeeman fight is not all that is agitating the local democrats at this festive time. There are six delegates to the Baltimore convention to be elected, and there is every indication that the Baltimore convention will be a show well worth traveling across the continent to see, even though one must spend his own dollars to accomplish the mission, and in spite of the fact that the delegates are likely to be tagged and laden with instructions before the pilgrimage to the Maryland shrine shall begin.

Maricopa is holding no lights beneath bushels, and four distinguished representatives of the local democracy have announced their willingness to brave the terrors of an eastern June for the privilege of casting Arizona's first votes in a national convention.

These candidates are Judge P. P. Parker and Ed Shaw of Phoenix, M. G. Daugherty of Mesa and Charles Woolf of Tempe. Maricopa will elect one of the six delegates, so it is obvious that three disappointments are in cold storage.

Eugene Ives will take a consolation prize and expects to be elected one of the Big Six. Ives' district is composed of the counties of Pima, Yuma and Santa Cruz.

In the northland Mike Cuniff is slated as the willing victim from Yavapai and Mohave.

Dr. W. G. Sampson of Flagstaff is to be returned from Coconino, Navajo and Apache.

Judge D. L. Cunningham will go from Cochise.

John Hampton of Clifton is the choice of Greenlee, Graham, Pinal and Gila.

It will be seen from the foregoing list that Maricopa offers the only contest thus far, but the dogs of war are straining at their leashes.

Dupont, of Delaware, Is Charged With Having Spent $58,000 in a Corrupt manner to Secure
His Election.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A resolution asking for an investigation of the election of Senator Dupont of Delaware was introduced today by Senator Reed of Missouri. It was read in the senate and tabled at Reed's request, after announcement that he will speak on it Wednesday. It contains charges that Dupont knowingly contributed a sum in excess of $25,000 and said to be in excess of $50,000 for use in his campaign. It alleges the money was sent out from Dupont's office and was apportioned among "various corrupt agents working in the interest of his candidacy."

Further charges that similar practices by the use of Dupont money marked the biennial, general and state elections from 1904 to 1910. The resolution would place the investigation in the hands of the senate committee on privileges and elections, clothing that committee with judicial powers. Dupont was in the senate when the resolution was offered. He made no comment and later declined to discuss the matter.

Says White Slavery Has Been Substituted for Black Slavery in United States.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The Lawrence mill strike occupied the attention of both houses of congress, President Taft and Attorney-General Wickersham today. Two resolutions, directing an investigation of conditions by the federal authorities were introduced but no action was taken. Mr. Taft, at the request of Representative Berger, asked Mr. Wickersham to learn if any federal laws have been violated by local authorities, who prevented the removal of the children from the strike-ridden district. Senator Poinsett, just returned from Lawrence, introduced a resolution directing an inquiry by the United States commissioner of labor. He declared Lawrence is in the hands of "military autocrats."

Senator Lodge objected to any interference in the affairs of his state, in which he was supported by Bailey, Williams, Overman, Chilton and others. Lodge read a telegram saying many children are being sent away to elicit sympathy that did not belong to the persons sending them. Bailey quoted Tillman as saying the Lawrence strike had revealed conditions in Massachusetts similar to those in the slave states before the war.

"They have substituted white slavery for black slavery," shouted Tillman.

LAWRENCE, Feb. 26.—It was announced by strike leaders tonight that two hundred will be sent to Philadelphia tomorrow. The fight in court to determine the rights of parents to send children out of town will come up tomorrow. The Independent Workers of the World decided to send a committee to the foreign ambassadors at Washington, to inform them as to the manner in which it is alleged foreigners are being treated by local authorities. It was also voted to send a telegram to President Taft requesting him, as commander-in-chief to order the withdrawal of the militia. Some women pickets were arrested for attempting to throw pepper in the eyes of mill workers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Senator Poinsett, of Washington, just back from an investigation of strike conditions in Lawrence, introduced a resolution in the senate today to instruct the department of commerce and labor to furnish the senate with information regarding the strike. The measure asks for "free passage for people through the state of Massachusetts," and for information regarding conditions of aliens. Representative Berger, of Wisconsin, after a visit to the White House, declared the president promised him to take up the Lawrence strike with Attorney-General Wickersham.

Goodwin is 65, and reputedly wealthy. He is held in jail on a charge of murder. Allen was 40, and has been a hanger-on about saloons since his arrival.

Miners Are Kept in Dark Regarding Progress of Plans to Prevent Coal Strike.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—On the eve of the resumption of a conference between Premier Asquith and other cabinet ministers and miners' representatives, which will mark the most critical stage of the government's efforts to avert a general coal strike, the nation is kept actually in the dark as to what has been accomplished toward securing peace since the negotiations of February 22. The miners were then informed by the premier that they were powerless to agree on anything until authorization had been obtained from the Miners' Federation, which meets tomorrow. As a consequence, subsequent conferences have been held with the coal owners alone.

It was announced tonight that the executive board of the Miners' Federation agreed to recommend to the conference an acceptance of the premier's invitation that a committee be appointed from the federation to consider the whole controversy with the cabinet.

SHORT SUPPLY OF POST CARDS

It Brought Arizona's First Invitation Day Proceedings to An Early Close.
Twice as Many Cards
Could Have Been Used.

Arizona's first invitation day was as big a success as it could be with the material at hand with which to celebrate. In other words, the people responding to the invitation to send free postcards to friends in other states came after them with such a rush that the supply was early exhausted.

The principal distributing point to the public was at the board of trade, where thousands had been left in the morning. All were taken before noon. Other cards had been left at the Southern Pacific railroad offices and at the hotels. About midday there was a grand gathering up of all the available cards at these places. They were taken to the board room, but in less than two hours all were gone.

Two hundred thousand cards had been furnished Arizona free by the Southern Pacific company for the occasion, Phoenix securing more than any other town by reason of its greater population. It is probable that the entire issue went out last night in the Arizona mails and many more would have been sent had they been furnished.

GARDNER IS ADVOCATE OF PATERNALISM

Wonder Worker from Maine
Wants the Government to Buy Out Express Companies.

PUTS BILL IN SENATE HOPPER

Would Buy Part of Property and Leave the Rest

Owners.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Senator Gardner, of Maine, today introduced a bill under which the government would take over the properties of the express companies and operate them in connection with the postal service, extending the service to rural delivery. The measure indicates a probable cost in taking over of the properties as follows: Real property, $14,922,169; equipment, $7,381,405; material and supplies, $138,210; advance payments of contracts, $5,836,666; franchises, good will, etc., $10,877,369; total, $39,165,819.

While the sheets of the companies show other assets of nearly $150,000,000, Senator Gardner argued these are not devoted to express business and that this property might be retained by the corporations without impairing its value. It is proposed that rates to be charged by the government be based upon weight and length of haul, rather than the system in effect in carrying mail. The power to fix rates would rest with the post-office department, with an appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Gardner declared the transition from private to government operation would take effect in one day and the business would not be affected.

ONLY EIGHT HOURS.

That Will Constitute a Government
Work Day Hereafter.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The house went on record today favoring the adoption of an eight-hour day for all government works when a provision for such limitation of hours of labor was placed on the appropriation bill for the manufacture of armament in the coming year. Rauch of Indiana proposed the amendment, which was adopted after a lively debate. Labor union members of the house attacked Tribble of Georgia, who opposed the bill.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

PARIS, Feb. 26.—It is understood here that the powers are ready to make a proposition for the settlement of the Italian-Turkish dispute, by which Italy would take the coasts of Tripoli and Cyrenaica, but leave the interior in the hands of the Turks. One difficulty in the way of the plan is that the Italian parliament has already voted the annexation of the whole of Tripoli and Cyrenaica.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

MARFA, Texas, Feb. 26.—(Bulletin.)—Headquarters of the Nelson Morris ranch, opposite Sierra Blanca, are surrounded by insurgents and a battle between American ranchmen and Mexicans has been going on for twelve hours. The band is well armed. Cowboys have started southward for the Rio Grande with the determination to release the besieged. A Mexican cowboy brought news of the fight late tonight.

EL PASO (Bulletin), Feb. 26.—At 11:15 tonight the forces of Canada arrived on the river bank opposite old Fort Bliss about one and a half miles northwest of Juarez. They are supposed to be extending a wing around the west side of the city.

EL PASO (Bulletin), Feb. 26.—A small detachment of company K of the Texas militia, engaged in guarding the El Paso electric light plant was fired upon tonight by parties concealed behind box cars, said to be Mexicans. Maxim silencers were used on the guns. More than twenty shots were fired, one bullet passing through the hat of a guardsman.

EL PASO (Bulletin), Feb. 26.—Rebel leaders today sent a demand for the surrender of Juarez within six hours. If the city is not surrendered within that time an attack will be made. Juarez officials have made the request that all foreigners leave the city.

HAUCHE, Chihuahua, Feb. 26.—The following announcement was sent to Juarez at 2 o'clock today:

"Encampment near Ciudad Juarez, February 26, 1912: For the present, I hereby announce in the name of all chiefs and troops under my command, that all guarantees shall extend to all foreigners and natives so long as there is no resistance of any kind offered to our entry into Ciudad Juarez. If there is resistance offered Juarez will enter the city through blood and fire, if need be. I have placed the time of six hours from 2 o'clock today so all foreigners can know our purpose. All foreigners shall be notified of this announcement. In case of attack by foreigners (Americans) we will all unite without distinction of political parties.

"COL. ROQUE GOMEZ
"MAJOR THOMAS LOZA."

EL PASO, Feb. 26.—El Paso took on a martial appearance tonight upon the announcement that a telephone conference between the Mexican consul, Lorente, and Emilio Campa, commanding the Vasquez army at Bauche regarding the fate of Juarez, had terminated unsatisfactorily. Six hundred United States troops of the Fourth cavalry and the Eighth infantry, with machine guns are stationed at strategic points, although Colonel Steever stated he had no instructions to do other than protest should Mexican bullets be fired into American territory. Americans in Juarez responded promptly to the warning issued by Consul Edwards and crossed the Rio Grande together with many Mexican non-combatants. Their preparations were hastened by a report that Campa's troops had already begun an advance from Bauche, although no information was obtainable at 9 o'clock of their distance from Juarez or the probable time of their arrival. Active preparations for the defense of Juarez are being made. The garrison consists of a hundred police and 400 volunteers. Machine guns are posted on buildings and soldiers are stationed at important points of the city.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—General turbulence in northern Mexico and the menacing of lives and interests of Americans along the border, drew from the Washington government today definite plans for self-protection. Two companies of the Fourth cavalry were dispatched to Douglas, one company to Nogales, two points in Arizona which suffered in the last revolution. To the Texas border were sent no more troops, but reports from El Paso gave the war department a disquieting day. Admittedly there are complications both foreign and domestic which will hamper forceful action on the part of the government. To relieve the embarrassment somewhat, Senator Stone introduced a resolution similar to the one he presented last May, designed to give the president authority to send troops across
